Archival Inkjet Print, Courtesy of the artist
Located in the tunnel on the 1st floor

Matthew Cronin explores issues of intimacy, familial history, and awareness of traditions by making photographs of fictional interiors and surfaces. He uses photographs taken from a commercial photographer's archive.

Create a collage of an interior.

Supplies List:

Magazines, Glue sticks, Scissors

Instructions

Step 1: What kind of interior are you going to create? Is it a room in your house? Is it an imaginary space? Pick out images for your interior. Find images of things that would be in a room.

Step 2: Use scissors to cut out your images. Take some time to arrange the images in your interior. Create depth by layering the images.

Step 3: Once you have decided on a layout use a glue stick to glue down your images
